This architectural site plan for Plot 306 illustrates a proposed building complex. The plan includes a north arrow in the upper right corner. The building layout features a central structure with multiple wings, including a large hall with a curved roof section on the left. Numerous parking spaces are distributed around the building. The site is characterized by contour lines indicating varying elevations, with specific spot heights marked throughout. A detailed inset shows a section of a curved ramp or staircase. The plan also depicts surrounding infrastructure, including a road and a drainage ditch.
